Book Week 2018

'Find your Treasure'

Dan McGuinness Visits U.P.S.

Author and Illustrator Dan McGuinness spent two days with the Year 3 - 7 students during Book Week.

Dan McGuinness discussed his journey growing up with long periods of time in hospital and nothing but drawing to amuse him. He encouraged us to all be creative and celebrate creativity. To draw, draw, draw and with practise to improve. Dan shared the process with his published comics 'Pilot and Huxley' and the illustrations he is currently creating for the Ahn Doh books in the Hot Dog series. Dan was funny, highly entertaining and talked very FAST! With each class they created a character and a world the character might live in.

Mermaid Lagoon, Walking the plank at Crocodile Swamp, Volcano of Doom !

Author Michelle Blackbird

Michelle spoke with the Year 6/7's about her War story 'Wish you were here.'

The Library was transformed into a treasure map with a post Production Peter Pan feel.

The library desk became a pirate ship.

You could read at the Native American campsite in Tipis.

Mandy Foot spoke with all the R-2 students about being an illustrator. She showed us some of her original paintings and illustrations. Mandy then drew a picture of Pelican Jack and his treasure. Mandy will publish a book she has written and illustrated soon. We were able to ask Mandy questions about being an author/illustrator.

Book Week Parade

On Thursday morning students, teachers and parents enjoyed a Book Week Parade hosted by our Year 3/4 library monitors - Lily, Arsh, Soumil, Ruby and Nalia. Below are some photos of the many book character costumes.
